I'd like to see Honda modify their definition of a dealer by omitting those listed that do not provide service or at least break it down when ask to click sales or service box and state sales only or sales and authorized service center. Of the two in the 73701 area one of those listed does no service at all. I really haven't seen anyone in there that could fix a Moped.

Expert: Typically when your electric shift is not working and your neutral light on the gauge flashes, that is signaling the angle sensor is failing, because you can manual shift it. That is good and tells us that there is not problem with the actual transmission or shift mechanism. It's only the sensor that is failing.
